The Baptist Sunday School picnic excursion last Saturday is pronounced by all who attended as having been a very pleasant occasion. About two hundred people, the majority of whom were children; composed the excursion party. The day was fair, and everything passed off without a single accident. The Young America Cornet Band accompanied the party, and discoursed excellent music throughout the day. The committee certainly deserve the thanks of all the participants for the admirable manner in which the excursion was managed.

A portion of the floor of Messrs. Moss & Brown's store room fell in last Saturday night or Sunday morning. The firm had, a few days previous, received a car load of corn, which, together with a lot of flour and other groceries, was piled upon t. All this and two fine show cases filled with goods went down into the cellar beneath. Seventy-five dollars, it is thought, will cover the damage sustained. It is fortunate the floor did not give way early in the evening, when, at one time, the store was crowded with negroes getting their usual Saturday night rations. Miss Clayton Wood, of Kentucky, gave an elocution entertainment in Masonic Hall last Friday night. Owing to a private musical entertainment in the city the same night and the services in the Methodist Church, she did not have many hearers. Her varied programme was rendered in an easy, clever manner, and showed her to be mistress in the art of elocution. The rendition of "The Bells" was as near perfect as the human voice could make it. Miss Wood is young, and quite attractive in appearance. She will loubtless at no distant day rank with the very best elocutionists. Those who attended seemed highly pleased with the entertainment, as was evidenced from the frequent plaudits given the young lady. Miss Wood deserves a liberal patronage, and we commend her to the people of railroad schedules connection by the Columbia & Greenville Railroad with the South bound mails over the Air Line Railroad was made at Seneca City, but now these mails are delayed there for twelve hours. Persons going from here to Atlanta have to lay over at Seneca all night, as the trains for Atlanta over the Air Line pass Seneca at 6.39 p. m. and 7.33 a. m. The trains for Charlotte pass Seneca at 10 p. m. and 1.20 p. m. It seems to us that the connection at Seneca with the Air Line trains is the most important that could be made by the C. & G. R. R., as the bulk of the travel over this end of that Road is Western bound. It is a great inconvenience to the travelling the County Poor House last Friday night, | public, and the two Roads ought to make close connection at Seneca. Certainly neither Road would lose anything financially by the connection. Indeed, we believe it would add to their increase, for if this County, and had been a member of close connection were made the travel the Baptist Church for over fifty years. | would surely increase. By accommodating the public the railroads stimulate travel and increase their business. The present schedule is, we presume, made for the purpose of connecting with the South Carolina Road, but it seems to us that it would be better to change the leaving-time from Charleston than to fail to make these connections. We hope the railroad authorities will look into these inconveniences, and, if possible, remedy them for the benefit of the travelling half miles West of the city, has the finest fields of grain we have ever gazed upon. His crops consist of barley, oats and wheat. His barley crop is now being harvested, and he thinks he will gather one thousand bushels. For it he finds a ready market and good prices. His yield of oats and wheat will also run up in the thousands. Mr. Keys is a very successful farmer, and the secret of his success is that he diversifies his crops and makes cotton a surplus crop. He plants but few acres, which he fertilizes highly, works well, and consequently makes as much as the majority of farmers do on twice the number of acres of land. We were shown a field of barley, which had been sown in the drill. Between the rows he has planted cotton, and has an excellent stand. As soon as the barley is harvestcrop of cotton, which not only gets the benefit of the fertilizers he has put in with it, but also gets the benefit of the fertilizers which have been used under the grain. Mr. Keys told us that he had, in this way, harvested twenty-five bushault made his annual inspection of the els of grain to the acre and then made a bale of cotton on the same ground. This is what we call progressive farming, and worthy of imitation by every tiller of the soil. If every farmer in Anderson County would adopt Mr. Keys' plan of farming, we would not have to keep our corncribs in the West. It will repay any farmer, we think, to visit Mr. Keys' farm,

> Commencement Exercises of the Anderso Female Seminary.

Editors of the Anderson Intelligencer GENTLEMEN-Please accept my sincere thanks for the very kind notice of our Seminary which appeared in your lastweek's issue. And grant me, I beg, the further favor of announcing to the public through your columns that the Baptist Church having been generously offered to us for the purpose-and most gratefully accepted-the exercises of our approaching Commencement will be held in that ommodious edifice.

Beginning at 11 o'clock a, m. on Friday, the 6th of June, the announcement of the results of our various examinations will be made, accompanied with some remarks and explanations touching the work of the session. The tedium incident to this necessary part of our exercises will be, in some measure, relieved by the occasional service of music. All persons, and especially our patrons, are respectfully invited to attend.

Various specimens of drawing, painting, &c., which our art pupils have executed, will be on exhibition in the halls and parlors of the Seminary, and all who attend our Commencement, are respectfully invited to call in and examine these fine-art works.

The evening exercises will begin at 8 'clock p. m. Music, and then Col. Farrow's address, and then music again, will constitute the leading features of our

A Pleasant Occasion. MR. EDITOR: The good people of Rock Mills township never do things by halves. A large and interesting assemblage was gathered on Saturday last at Providence Camp Ground, the day being devoted to a Grange and Democratic Club meeting. The major part of the forenoon was devoted to a plowing match, in which the party took a lively interest. The competitors in this contest were Mr. D. Sloan White and Mr. M. B. Heller-the former using a two-horse sulky cultivator, for which he is the agent in Anderson County, and the latter a walking one-horse cultivator of his own invention.

A large number of ladies graced the occasion by their presence, and their important place in the programme of the day was evidenced by the lavish repast of good things which was spread at noon for the benefit of all. The ladies of this section of the County cannot be excelled in their preparation of a picnic dinner. Dinner over (and we lingered around those lunch baskets) Grange No. 154 was called to order, and after an appropriate address by Col. E. M. Rucker, who was present, a public installation of its newly elected officers was had by Deputy Grand

The Grange then entered upon the transaction of its appropriate business, and upon its adjournment the Rock Mills

Democratic Club was called to order. The chief business before the Club was a discussion of the question as to whether the delegates elected to the County Convention should be instructed. After some discussion the delegates were instructed to vote for the majority plan in the coming Primary.
